Flight Details

I wanted to repurpose as much as I could from the address search and selection process from the default Door Dash experience.

Flight Details

I designed the search and selection views to match as closely to the default experience as I could. Departure and gate information were included to help the user make the right choice while also informing them of how much time they have available to place an order.