Inform

I thought it would be nice if the dasher who met the user in the airport would wear an identifiable t-shirt so that they could find each other. With more time I would want to work with a visual artist to create something a bit more compelling than a t-shirt photo to convey this.